

ABSTRACT*TERMINAL DEVICE IP ADDRESS AUTHENTICATION

A code is received from a terminal device in lieu of a user name and password. A subscriber identifier corresponding to an IP address of the terminal device is located. Subscriber information corresponding to the identifier is located, and it is determining whether a subscriber has access to a requested service.